Chapter 76: Revival of Umbrios' Fallen Army

In a moment of unparalleled power, Umbrios, the Shadow Absolute, harnessed his shadow powers to bring his fallen warriors back into the fold. With the use of his abilities and the ancient Materialization Ring bestowed upon him by Sung Jin-Woo, Umbrios revived his fallen soldiers, transforming them into living, fertile beings once again. These soldiers, now more powerful than ever, would not only serve in battle but would also be able to reproduce, increasing the shadow army's numbers exponentially over time.

Umbrios' shadow soldiers, previously lost in the great conflicts, were resurrected as living beings through a combination of shadow magic and the Materialization Ring. The process not only revived them but enhanced them, making them fertile and able to grow their numbers naturally.

The newly formed shadow soldiers now possess enhanced loyalty and strength, serving Umbrios with unwavering commitment. With this new batch of materialized soldiers, the total size of his army has increased dramatically.
